

DOSTOFARM presents VERMI product line for animal health

Westerstede, 26th November 2024 - DOSTOFARM, known for its innovative and natural solutions in animal nutrition, is presenting its new VERMI product line at IPPE. This range includes products with extracts of the herbs oregano and wormwood, which are designed to significantly strengthen the well-being and health of all farm animals.

Natural ingredients for health and well-being

VERMI products can be administered in a variety of ways, for example via the feed trough, milk or as a supplement to other feedstuffs. VERMI supports feed intake, promotes appetite, and ensures a balanced diet for the animals. It also stabilizes gastrointestinal function and is particularly helpful before or during a worming treatment. In addition, VERMI has no withdrawal period and can be used without restrictions. The VERMI product line is approved for all farm animals.
