Committed to offering innovative solutions to meet the needs of the animal industry, Grimaud Frères is known for its strong commitment to innovation and significant investment in R&D. Through different selection schemes, specific and adapted to each product, the genetic improvement needs of each level of the industry are taken into account. For breeder animals, our teams focus on improving egg laying, fertility and hatchability, egg weight, viability, egg quality and seed quantity and quality. For commercial products, our priority is to maximize live weight, feed conversion ratio, net yield and animal behavior.

Selection programs are supervised and implemented by our geneticists, engineers and technicians specialized in animal selection, with the support of SYSAAF (French Poultry and Aquaculture Selectors' Union) and Groupe Grimaud's scientific department.

Our products, resulting from various crosses between our pure lines in constant genetic improvement, are tested on our experimental sites and validated in the field before being commercialized. All our selection work is carefully carried out under the strictest sanitary and hygiene conditions, while respecting the health and well-being of the animals. Medical imaging measurements using our scanner give us great precision in estimating the meat yields of our animals, and provide us with additional information on the body composition of each individual.

At the service of our customers and close to them, our technical and commercial teams provide specific expertise in breeding, reproduction, insemination, hatching or fattening of commercial products, according to your needs. We can also provide advice on nutritional and veterinary aspects to ensure our main purpose: the optimal expression of the genetic potential of Grimaud Frères products.
